6-year-old in intensive care after being hit by maintenance truck

Tammy Jackson
Staff Reporter

A 6-year-old boy was critically injured Tuesday afternoon after being hit by a Belle Glade city maintenance truck. According to Florida Highway Patrol reports, Jamel L. Harrell, of Belle Glade, and several other pedestrians were attempting to cross S.W. Avenue E at S.W. 12th St. when the accident happened.

FHP Troopers said a 1987 Ford truck, driven by Charlie Josey, 29, of Belle Glade, was traveling eastbound on S.W. Avenue E. Harrell and other pedestrians were walking from S.W. 12th St. to S.W. Avenue E crossing the westbound lanes of S.W. Avenue E and stopped. Harrell then darted into the east-bound lane of S.W. Avenue E. The left front side of the maintenance truck struck the left front and side of Harrell's head.

Harrell was transported to Glades General Hospital, Belle Glade. He was later transported to St. Mary's Hospital, West Palm Beach, via Trauma Hawk, where he underwent emergency surgery.

According to Belle Glade City Manager Lomax Harrell, the maintenance truck is part of the sanitation department and is used to haul dumpsters from one location to another. Mr. Harrell said from the information he has received, Josey was not speeding. Josey has been employed with the city for six months.

At newspaper press time, Harrell was in Pediatric Intensive Care with severe head injuries and leg injuries.

Congressional race narrows as Al Coogler drops out of competition

Republican Al Coogler announced Tuesday he was dropping out of the race for the District 16 Congressional seat.

He cited an inability to raise the necessary money to fund his campaign as the main reason for his decision.

"I couldn't, in good faith, continue to ask for contributions for a campaign I knew I couldn't win," Mr. Coogler said.

Upon learning one of his opponents for the Republican nomination had withdrawn from the race, State Senator Mark Foley said the announcement had "furthered his resolve to work hard and win the Republican nomination September 8 and the general election in November."

Mr. Foley's campaign continues with a series of community functions throughout the seven county district, including the Glades.

Discussing the issues...Everglades WIFE President Linda Parker of Clewiston and Congressman Alice Hastings met at his office in Washington, D.C. to discuss the 1995 Farm Bill and how it will affect agriculture. Congressman Hastings was given a cornucopia box full of Glades commodities, including, corn, sugar, rice, oranges and homemade jellies compliments of local growers.

Steve Haller, 15-year veteran of PBC Sheriff's Office, dies at 52

Det. Sgt. Steve Haller, III

By Brenda Bunting
Editor

It was standing room only as friends, family and co-workers gathered Monday morning at the First Baptist Church in Belle Glade to say good-bye to Detective Sgt. Steve Haller, III.

Sgt. Haller, 52, a 15-year veteran of the Palm Beach County Sheriff's Office, died June 10 from cancer.

Law enforcement personnel from all over the state came to the funeral to pay their last respects to a man who was dedicated to the underprivileged youth of the Glades, his family, and to law enforcement.

Active with the Explorer Scouts, he served as advisor for Post 611, Belle Glade, and as advisor for the Florida Sheriff's Explorers Association.

Sgt. Haller was known for helping secure bicycles from law enforcement agency custody and helping the Explorer Scouts refresh them. At Christmas, the Explorers would then give them to kids in town who otherwise could not have afforded to have a bike.

"Steve was a unique individual we won't be able to replace," said Capt. Mike Mills with the Sheriff's Department. "It crushes us to lose him."

U.S. Sugar Corp. donates $50,000 to Hurston Museum

Zora Neale Hurston Roof, Garden Museum Founder, Cartheda T. Knochellah, and Membership Chairman, the Honorable Clarence E. Anthony, announced the $50,000 contribution that officially kicks off the Museum's Phase 2 fundraising effort, at the museum's "Juneteenth Gala," held Friday in Belle Glade.

The $50,000 contribution comes from the United States Sugar Corporation and represents the largest private contribution thus far to the museum's Building Fund campaign. U.S. Sugar had contributed earlier to the museum's campaign to move its 5,700 square foot facility to Glades Pioneer Park. However, according to Robert Coker, vice president of the company, U.S. Sugar is ready to "step up to the plate and show some real leadership," by helping the museum to get its facility ready to serve the community.

Mr. Coker was elected to the Hurston Museum's Board of Directors earlier this month.

The museum's membership campaign will be handled through a direct mail initiative during the months of June and July.

Construction is under way on the museum's renovation project. And, grand opening of the museum's facility is projected to occur in September.

WIFE gives wake up call on Capitol Hill

"We, in WIFE, would like to issue a 'wake up' call as to what is happening in agriculture. America, we must not destroy this enterprise system," said Mary Ann Shepard, National President of Women Involved In Farm Communities (WIFE) at the 12th annual legislative breakfast hosted by WIFE on Capitol Hill, June 7.

Attending from the Glades were local WIFE members Linda Parker, president of Everglades WIFE, Corresponding Secretary Christine Howell, Donna Bair and Treasurer Brenda Bunting.

The keynote breakfast speaker at the convention was James Radintz, FMHA, who stated that a "one-stop shop" - customer driven Department of Agriculture is imperative.

The FMHA is focusing on the beginning farmer and a program for the socially disadvantaged.

FMHA was originally organized as a supervised credit agency to help find opportunities, identify resource needs and most importantly, it was designed to develop solutions, he said.

In conjunction with the breakfast and congressional staff pizza party, 65 members of WIFE from across the nation gathered in Washington, D.C.

the week of June 5 to hold their 1994 Government Affairs Conference/Board of Directors Meeting.

During their visit to Washington, WIFE delegates distributed 235 packets to congressional offices containing the 1994 National WIFE priorities, including the 1995 Farm Bill, Private Property Rights, Energy and Rural Health Care.

Local WIFE members spoke to congressmen and congressional aides on the need for the continuation of the sugar program in the 1995 Farm Bill, property rights and health care.

President Parker reminded elected officials that the sugar program operates at no cost to taxpayers, but guarantees American sugarcane and best sugar producers a fair market price for their commodity.

During the conference, guest speaker Lon Hatamiya, USDA Administrator of Marketing Services, explained that since the "family farm" has endured through years of hardship, it is time to look for a common ground with others.

He said women in WIFE have an overall outlook and are well-respected and therefore, are prime candidates to serve on commodity boards as they have hands-on experience in production agriculture as well as being the consumer.

WIFE members from 15 states converged on the nation's capitol the week of June 4-8, to talk with their elected officials about farm issues. Attending from Everglades WIFE were, from left, Chris Howell, recording secretary, Linda Parker, president, and Donna Bair.

Youth seminar focuses on solutions to the problems facing today's teens

By Stacey Ann Hannigan
This past week, the youth of The Inspirational Church of God, South Bay, under the leadership of Pastor Johnny W. Johnson, sponsored their Second Annual Youth Seminar. It was coordinated by Sister Latricia Hylton.

The theme of this year's seminar was, "Focusing On Our Youth In Today's Society, We Must Go Through The Fire."

A host of respected Glades area residents and dignitaries were on hand to focus on various problems facing our youth today, and give their suggested solutions. In attendance were Basil Anderson, Cherece Bowers, Autrie Moore-Williams, Charles Smith, Cynthia Brown, Quinton Wrisper, Novella Tillman, Angela Carroll, Melanie Bolden, Miranda Smith, and Carl Gibbons.

The seminar would have been incomplete had there not been our targeted youth on hand to challenge the minds of our guests.

Present was the youth department of The Inspirational Church of God, as well as representatives from St. John First Baptist Church, St. Paul Church of God in Christ, New Bethel A.M.E., and The Youth Crusade Deliverance Church.

As the youth listened attentively, comments and questions were shared concerning a variety of topics.

Some areas of interests included: "Has the church stopped producing strong effective leaders?" "Is it necessary to today's youth to be well-grounded in Christ?" and "Competition between our young black men and women in their relationships."

When faced with the question, "why is there a lot of problems (lack) with communication in a lot of our relationships?", Mrs. Brown responded by saying, "Communication problems stem from our home life. If there is a lack of communication in the home, that trend will continue up until adulthood in a person's life."

Certainly, there is a lot that can be done outside the home to try to ease this problem. Mr. Gibbons suggested that teachers become more involved in their students' lives to the point where they can offer them guidance and support without a fear of rejection or other problems. Despite this fact, there still remains a wide-open space that the parents of these children need to fill.

As Ms. Smith said, "Parents have gotten too relaxed. Kids know their parents can't do much to them physically (fear of child abuse charges), so they use that to their advantage."

It is clear to everyone that the government has taken an upper hand in the lives of our children, she added. The laws that have been set are working against the parents instead of with them, she concluded.

This year's seminar was culminated with a Fashion and Talent Show on Friday night showcasing the talents of various youth in The Inspirational Church of God and other churches.

On Saturday evening, The L.C.O.G. mass Choir sponsored a Gospel Concert where on hand was soloist Charles Smith and a portion of St. John First Baptist Church's youth choir.

On Sunday at 4 p.m., coordinator Latricia Hylton was the guest speaker for the culmination service. Miss Hylton spoke eloquently to the audience as she focused on the roles our churches need to take in our children's lives.

To the youth of The L.C.O.G. and the readers of this article, remember, "How you live your life is your responsibility and you will be held accountable."

We express our heart-felt thanks to all who made this event a great success. Certainly, it is time for us to start "Focusing On Our Youth In Today's Society."

Hurston's Museum's gala is deemed successful

The speaker didn't stand behind the podium. And, his message was far from usual banquet-speak. He challenged the crowd of banquet-goers numbering about 250 to change what he called "the condition of crisis" in America today.

The featured speaker at the Zora Neale Hurston Roof Garden Museum's first "June-teenth Gala," held Friday in the Elks Lodge in Belle Glade, Ron Wallace demonstrated how stressing the similarities and not the differences of all Americans might have great impact on how people perceive themselves and others.

"African-Americans have done a lot to help develop this country," said Mr. Wallace of Tulsa, Okla., author of Black Wall Street. "When you use a cellular phone, thank the Black man who invented it. When you drive up to a traffic light, thank the Black man who invented it. When you put on your shoes, thank the Black man who invented the shoe lasting machine..." He gave more examples to the surprise and delight of his audience.

Mr. Wallace used stories about Tulsa's Black section, which boasted the wealthiest African-Americans in the country during the 1920's -- "wealthy oilmen and farmers", as the backdrop for his motivational talk on the need for reevaluation and change in America today.

"We've got to educate the babies," he said. "What they don't know about their heritage, will hurt all of us in the future."

The gala began with a reception and silent auction coordinated by Hurston Board Member, Earlyne R. Harrell. The auction featured donated items from local businesses and artists. Included were artworks by Donald Neal and Lee Glaze, and items from Gilbert's Jewelers, Royal's Furniture, Glades Mercantile, Bare Essentials, Glades Lincoln Mercury, Crown Cruise Line, The Dolly Hand Cultural Arts Center, the Kravis Center, Flowers By Gwen, and an autographed football from Los Angeles Rams wide receiver, Jessie Hester.

Resolutions from both the City of Belle Glade and Palm Beach County Commission were read and presented, declaring June 10, 1994, "June-teenth" in the city and county. Music was provided by Zarak Lawson, and an a cappella, syncopated musical selection from the family choir, Smith Memorial, drew lengthy applause.

"It was a great night. A tremendous beginning," said Hurston Board of Directors' Chair Mary Evans. And all who attended appeared to be in agreement.

"June-teenth Gala" is the first of several fundraising activities planned by the museum to assist its capital project. Renovation of the museum's 5,700-foot facility located inside Glades Pioneer Park, began in late May.

For additional information on the museum's programs and capital projects, please call 996-2161.

Belle Glade commissioner Harma Miller is guest speaker at convention held in St. Augustine Belle Glade Commissioner Harma Miller (left) was the guest speaker at the 39th Annual Convention of The Charmettes, Inc. on Friday, May 20. Shown with Mrs. Miller is Cynthia Asia, program director and parliamentarian of the St. John's, Putnam County Chapter of the Charmettes, Inc.

Belle Glade City Commissioner Harma M. Miller was the guest speaker recently at the 39th Annual Convention of The Charmettes, Inc. in St. Augustine. The theme for the event was "African-American Women: Defining Our Role in the 21st Century."

Commissioner Miller is the fifth of six sibling girls born of migrant parents. She said she knows what poverty and despair can do to people. In her presentation, she relates the many struggles as well as enjoyable memories she experienced during her family's annual trips to upper state New York.

She received her B.A. degree in Spanish with a minor in French at Bethune-Cookman College and she earned her M.A. degree in General Linguistics from the University of Pittsburgh. Mrs. Miller also has studied at the University of Madrid.

A classroom and resources teacher, she has served as an adjunct professor for Florida Atlantic University, Indian River Community College, and Florida Memorial College. Last year, she represented the United States Information Agency on a 29-day Grant Program in South Africa.

Elected to public office in 1985, Commissioner Miller became Belle Glade's first Black female mayor in 1989. During that time, the Sun-Sentinel featured Mrs. Miller in an article entitled, "Harma Miller - From Migrant to Mayor" and traced her rise to office and her many accomplishments along the way.

Besides teaching, Mrs. Miller is a partner in Miller Mortuary with her husband, Henry. She is a member of Phi Delta Kappa, Florida League Teachers' Association, and St. John's First Baptist Church. She also is a board member of the Palm Beach County Health Care District.

Letters to the editor

We need health care reform

Dear Editor:

I have been asked why those of us who get Medicare should support health care reform.

I can think of a lot of reasons. One is that I worry that too many of our children and grandchildren don't have health insurance. Young families are overwhelmed by high medical costs. They fear losing jobs and being left with no health coverage.

Those of us who have Medicare have basic coverage - today. But our health care benefits are slowly being reduced while our costs are escalating.

The cost of prescription drugs eats up the income of a lot of people. Prescription drugs exceeds the rapidly rising inflation rate for all other medical services.

If paying for medicines doesn't reduce us to poverty, there is a good chance the cost of long-term care will.

We need comprehensive universal health care reform which will provide long-term care and control prescription drug costs. The best health care reform is to provide security for our people.

We need to tell our congressmen that we are concerned about the future of our health care reform. If your congressmen don't hear from you, they will assume that you do not care about health care reform.

Mary Librandi
Boynton Beach

Another view on health care

Dear Editor:

According to a study conducted by the economic research firm, DRI/McGraw-Hill, the typical American household may have to forfeit $461 worth of annual medical services under Clinton's proposed health care scheme.

That's the same as nine visits to the doctor! For some people who just don't get sick very much, this may not be a big deal. But to thousands of elderly Americans who are getting more susceptible to illness and injury every day, this loss of medical services could be devastating.

And since I'm sure elderly Americans will be asked to bear a huge portion of the cost of this plan - just as we had to with Clinton's recent tax increase on Social Security benefits -- it doesn't make sense that we should also have to suffer the most. Of course, I think this plan is bad for all Americans - not just the elderly. No one should have to face sub-quality, rationed health care. America, despite its very real problems, is still the envy of the world when it comes to quality medical care. No one is denied lifesaving emergency treatment. But if President Clinton's plan passes and the government limits how much the nation can spend on health care, our medical quality is going to plummet along with our access to care. Just look at the experience of the former Eastern bloc nations.

Belle Glade Commissioner Harma Miller speaks at annual Charmettes Convention

The following is part of a speech given by Belle Glade Commissioner Harma Miller at the 39th Annual Convention of The Charmettes, Inc. in St. Augustine in May. It details her life growing up the child of migrant farm workers.

"Let me tell you about a little girl I know well. She was born on Christmas day to migrant parents. The father had only a sixth grade education and was a crew-leader - a crew leader, who each summer would make the four-day travel to New York state with his buses and trucks, and family and a group of other families and precious little money.

The mother of the child had long since watched her dreams to become a teacher dashed by the weight of survival in caring for her five girls - five girls born over six years - with no hope of ever retrieving those dreams.

The little girl never had any idea of the poverty and struggle, for she felt only wonder with the world and a fascination for learning.

The trip to the north Mohawk Valley of New York state to pick beans, strawberries, and gather potatoes was a way of life, accepted by those around her.

She actually enjoyed eating chicken which was laboriously prepared and packed into shoe boxes (the added pound cake made it fun).

She enjoyed scurrying from the caravan to the woods to relieve biological functions and thought it was an adventure.

She enjoyed arriving at gas stations yet knowing that black was black and white was white and niggers weren't allowed in the bathrooms, and it seemed to be okay.

She enjoyed sleeping on a quilt in the open air while the mechanics worked on the bus - it was like camping out.

She enjoyed learning to rest in the fetal position to keep warm and deemed it a cuddly situation.

She enjoyed watching her father leave the caravan to find hot dogs or spam, which meant that the chicken and the cake was all gone, and there will be hymn-singing around the campfire that night.

Upon arrival at the camps, hers was a three story chicken coop, painted red and covered by sheet-rock walls for human habitation.

There was a communal kitchen where the smell of freshly baked biscuits would enter through a nearby window which could be raised with a stick.

The rooms in the building were separated by one hallway on each of the three floors. The mother stacked groceries for sale on one side of the assigned hallway and the little girls slept on the other with her four sisters.

Many, many nights she was awakened by the sounds of love-making or fighting or policemen breaking down the doors to look for an alleged criminal of one sort or another.

Her childish curiosity made her wonder whether the field for tomorrow would be filled with old stringy beans or one of ripe red strawberries for a day of stained clothes, stained teeth and a belly full of red sweetness.

After some years of the same routine, the child grew up to go to college, the same as three of her six sisters. The $250 she'd won in an oratorical contest was not even sufficient for one semester at Bethune Cookman College in 1962. After winning a scholarship, taking a job as a switchboard operator, pressing hard at night, she managed to finish.

She could not imagine that while she was on the European Studies at the University of Madrid that eventually she would become:

- a certified teacher
- a licensed embalmer and funeral director
- a university professor
- a real estate developer
- and, mayor of a small town of 18,000 - 25,000 people in a western Palm Beach County city called Belle Glade.

Sgt. Haller dies at 52

Capt. Mills said Sgt. Haller was known for his work with the teenagers in the community who needed guidance. "He took pleasure in working with teenagers, especially if he could turn them around," said Capt. Mills.

Sgt. Haller helped raise money to purchase "like" a robot used by local law enforcement officials as an educational tool for children to teach them about the dangers of drugs. Capt. Mills said Sgt. Haller also had a good working relationship with farmers in the Glades and helped recover a lot of stolen property for them.

A native of Dayton, Ohio, he was born on April 18, 1942, son of Steve Haller, Jr., and the late Fairy Lee Fike. He had been a resident of Belle Glade since moving from Glades County in 1980. He joined the Palm Beach County Sheriff's Department in 1980 and was a detective with the homicide division.

A veteran of the Vietnam conflict, he served two tours of duty with the United States Army. He was a graduate of the United States Army Artillery Officers Candidate School.

After serving on active duty, he joined the Reserves and retired at the rank of major. He was awarded the Air Medal, the Bronze Star Medal, the Army Commendation Medal with One Oak Leaf Cluster, the Combat Infantryman Badge, the Republic of Vietnam Campaign Medal, the Vietnam Service Medal and the Armed Forces Reserve Medal. He was awarded, by the Republic of Vietnam, the Staff Service Medal and the Gallantry Cross with Palm.

He was a member of the American Mule Owner's Association, the Rotary Club of Belle Glade, and the Belle Glade Alliance Church.

Survivors include his wife, the former Carol Ann Reynolds; one son, Steve Haller IV of West Palm Beach; daughter, April Lee Haller of Belle Glade; father Steve Haller, Jr., of Dayton, Ohio; and step-father Donald Rice of Moore Haven.

The funeral service was conducted by Rev. Lloyd Green, pastor of the Belle Glade Alliance Church. The eulogy was delivered by Belle Glade Mayor and friend Steve Weeks. Interment was in Ortona Cemetery, Ortona, with full honors provided by the Palm Beach County Sheriff's Department Honor Guard.

Pallbearers were members of the Palm Beach County Sheriff's Department Honor Guard. Honorary pallbearers were: Lt. David Estes, H.L. Barber, Harold Miller, Sonny Stein, Stone Cooper, Steve Weeks, Terrell Fielder, and Wig Wolfbarger.

An honorary escort was composed of members of the Palm Beach County Sheriff's Department and other law enforcement officers from throughout the state and members of the Explorer Scouts.

The James A. Bennett Funeral Home in Pahokee was in charge of the arrangements.

Former Harvest Queen to intern at Yale

Alexia Sears

Thummy Jackson

Staff Reporter

Alexia Sears' dreams in high school of becoming a teacher changed when her aunt told her of the remarkable challenges that nursing brings. Now she's a senior at the University of Florida and she's been selected as an intern at Yale New Haven Hospital in Connecticut.

According to Alexia, the internship is a full-time job and she will receive hands-on experience by working at the hospital.

Alexia said her interests lie in emergency room trauma.

Alexia said the experience will be a learning one because she has never been to Connecticut, nonetheless traveled north of North Carolina. She said she doesn't know anyone there or anything. She said she accepted the offer because "I want to travel and experience different things."

Along with being paid for her services at the hospital, Alexia will receive college credit for her internship.

There were 50 students chosen to participate in the program and Alexia is the only student to be chosen from UF.

Interested in meeting people, Alexia said while she is in Connecticut, she plans to travel to New York, Boston and the New England area.

As for plans after graduating from college, Alexia said she wants to work in a hospital setting. She said she isn't choosy as to where he career will lead her. "I'm really flexible about where I'm going to live and work after I graduate in May 1995."

Alexia has been a Canal Point resident for 16 years. She is a member of Canal Point United Methodist Church. She is the daughter of Thomas and Yadira Sears. She is also the middle of three children.

She's a 1990 graduate of Pahokee High School, and the 1990 Black Gold Harvest Queen. While in high school her grade point average was 3.81. Her college GPA thus far is 3.7.

Husband kills wife then shoots self

By Anne Deuschle

Mississippi Avenue in Harlem, Cleveland, is a quiet residential neighborhood, or so it was until Sunday, June 12. Ronald J. Frederick, 36, aimed a 12-gauge shotgun at his wife's, Cecilia, head and pulled the trigger. Mrs. Frederick was formerly a Belle Glade resident, and she was a Glades Central High School graduate.

Minutes after Mr. Frederick murdered his wife, he entered their home through the front door and walked to their bedroom where he killed himself by placing the gun in his mouth and pulling the trigger.

Mr. Frederick died at the home. Mrs. Frederick died upon

Students receive Citizenship Awards

The Florida League of Cities recently awarded 25 regional and five statewide student prizes in the 1994 "City Citizenship Award Program." The goal of the program is to increase students' understanding of city government and the services it provides, in addition to recognizing and rewarding teachers who provide motivation and inspiration to their students on behalf of the program.

The competition is an essay contest for Florida secondary school students, grades nine through 12th. The essays provide the opportunity for students to explore and comment on the relationship of city citizens to their city government. The award program is composed of two levels—regional and statewide. All awards are in the form of U.S. Savings Bonds; regional awards range in value of $100-$400. The regional winners in the Glades area are:

Beth Buchanan, Alexia Lutz, Samer Halum and Bridgett Michelle Barbee, all of Glades Central Community High School, Belle Glade. Beth Buchanan and Alexia Lutz were selected for statewide recognition.

arrival at Hendry General Hospital.

The reason for the murder/suicide seemed to be marital problems, said neighbors and family.

Captain Channess of the Hendry County Sheriff's Department said the 911 call came to Hendry County Sheriff's Department at 6:18 p.m.

"Evidently Mrs. Frederick and Tiffany, their 15-year-old daughter, wanted to go somewhere in the family car. The car wouldn't start so Mrs. Frederick raised the hood. She was sitting on the front bumper when Mr. Frederick walked out of the house and shot her," Tiffany, sitting on the passenger's side of the front seat, told deputies she did not see the shooting but she saw her mother jerk and fall from her sight.

Capt. Channess shook his head in disbelief as he told about the crowd that gathered outside the couple's home hoping to see the gory sight. "We even had to pull down the window shades to keep people from looking in. It was a terrible scene, sickening. Why would anyone want to look?" he said.

Mildred Colbert lives across the street from the Frederick's house. She said the Frederick family's two younger daughters played with her daughter. "They are good children. Mrs. Frederick took good care of them. She always knew where they were."

Geraldine Williams, who lives next door to the Frederick home said the two people kept to themselves. "Thirty minutes before the shooting, I heard Tiffany laughing," she said.

Mrs. Colbert, who drove Tiffany to the hospital and stayed with her while they (hospital personnel) told her her mother was dead, seemed to be stunned but remained in control after receiving word that her father also died.

All three of the children are with relatives in Belle Glade.

West Tech holds graduation ceremony

The ceremony honoring the graduating Class of 1994 was held June 8 in the Lee Berryhill Student Center.

The guest speaker, Dr. Effie Grear, Glades Central Community High School Principal, addressed the graduates, placing emphasis on using the skills they had attained to become successful in their future endeavors.

Shirley Speakes, instructor of System of Applied Individual Learning (SAIL) at West Technical Education Center, recited a poem, written by her daughter, seeking fulfillment in life. Graduation symbolizes the beginning, an opening of one's eyes to see the world, to become one of the best.

Melvyn Lockett and Mon

King presented solos honoring the graduates.

Friends and families filled the Lee Berryhill Student Center as diplomas were presented by Shirley Maxson, director of West Technical Education Center, and Mrs. David Brann, Area IV Support Team Member.

Following the ceremony, approximately 150 guests attended a reception.

West Technical Education Center held its 1994 graduation ceremony on June 8 at the Lee Berryhill Student Center.

WHIPLASH

Whiplash injuries can result from a sudden backward and forward whipping movement of the neck, caused by an auto collision, a fall, a powerful slap on the back, or even a violent sneeze. The ligaments and muscles controlling the spinal segments are stretched or sprained, allowing the vertebrae to slip into abnormal positions. Nerves are then "pinched" or irritated, giving rise to headaches, nausea, dizziness and other pain.

On May 12, the Glades Division of the American Heart Association held its annual reception to recognize the hard work of local volunteers at the South Bay City Hall. Lester Baird, the 1993-94 president of the board, reviewed accomplishments for the past fiscal year, focusing on the excellent efforts in working with school children to adopt heart-healthy lifestyles, and the Heart Walk, which was one of the most successful walks per capita in the state.

The slate of officers for the 1994-95 year are Lomax Harrelle, president; Lee Sutterfield, vice president; and Iris Tannyr, secretary. The new officers will take office July 1, 1994.

Volunteers for the American Heart Association were honored with a reception recently at the South Bay City Hall.

Hurricane Andrew destruction still bringing researchers, reporters and scientists to area

By Mike Lyons

If you look closely at the hundreds of abandoned homes and apartments at the Naranja Lakes subdivision in Homestead you can still see the flight, the signs of defiance.

On the side of one wall it says "Andrew's gone, but we're still here." The scars from the nearly 2-year-old battle are still here but, in the end, Hurricane Andrew won this struggle. Today, Naranja Lakes is a memorial to the power of a hurricane. No one has returned here and no one is likely to. Except people with notepads and cameras.

Researchers and scientists come here often to continue their study of Hurricane Andrew. All of them are searching for the answers to two questions: why was Andrew so powerful, and why was the damage from the storm so bad, so far from the ocean? After all, most hurricanes fall apart once they reach land. Andrew seemed to get stronger, especially over areas 10-12 miles from the coast.

Dr. Peter Black thinks he has found the answer. Dr. Black is a research specialist at the hurricane research division in Miami. When he's not examining damage reports he's flying through hurricanes. In fact, it was a flight through Hurricane Hugo in 1988 that helped unravel the mystery of Andrew.

"We encountered at that time extremely intense turbulence," Dr. Black said. "One of our engines caught fire and we had a very difficult time getting into the eye. We found that what we had flown through was what we call a mesoscale vortex embedded within the eye of the hurricane itself. It was like another circulation within the hurricane eyeball rotating around the storm." That circulation, Dr. Black's storm within a storm, produced wind gusts of 200 miles an hour. When Hugo hit South Carolina several days later the circulation, thankfully, was gone although Hugo still had winds of 135 mph.

When Dr. Black saw the damage from Andrew he remembered his flight through Hugo and the storm within the storm. He thought that Andrew probably had that circulation too but he had no hard evidence until someone gave him a picture.

At that exact time, Hurricane Andrew was coming onshore a polar obiter satellite just happened to take a satellite photograph of Florida. The picture shows Andrew coming onshore and it also shows a black spot inside Andrew's eye that was located off center," Dr. Black said. "It happened to coincide with the public reports of the very low surface pressure."

Dr. Black believes that there were six or seven circulations rotating around the eye of Andrew producing brief, but intense wind gusts approaching 205 miles an hour. "These convective cells (the smaller storms) they just kind of act like a giant mix master and mix the air from the aloft right down to the surface," Dr. Black said. "So I think that this effect serves to intensify the winds that we felt at the ground."

While Dr. Black's discovery is new, he doesn't think it's that unusual. He believes other hurricanes, like Camille that hit Mississippi in 1969, may also have had the storm within the storm. He thinks it may be a part of the natural process of large hurricanes, which means it could happen again.
